The page as intended, with no alignment issues (browser at 1024 px wide)

Description:

On a wide aspect monitor, if the window is sufficiently wide (or full screen) the buttons under the red text "Begin Here" shift away from that text and misalign to the right.

Attached are two images, one showing the correct alignment, and the other showing the defect.

This problem occurs in Internet explorer, Chrome and Firefox.

Steps:

1. Find a computer you can use with a wide aspect monitor.
2. Set the browser window width to approximately 1024 px width
3. Navigate to <https://resumesmarts.com/>
4. Log in using a known good userID. The page should look correct at ~1024 px width.
5. Maximize the width of the browser (F11). You will see the Resume Customizer and Resume Tracker buttons displace to the right.

Expected Results:

The page layout should stay relatively the same, with the Resume Customizer and Resume Tracker buttons under the red "Begin Here" text.

Observed Results:

The Resume Customizer and Resume Tracker buttons shift on both the X and Y axis to move them away from the desired location under the "Begin Here" text.

Really good catch and writeup, Scott! I particularly enjoyed the second image, with the "Begin here" pointing at nothingness!
